W. H. M. Society.

A program of unusual interest was presented to the Home Mission Society Monday June 7th '09; the topic being "Service."

The president, Mrs. Will Singleton, distributed references from God's word to those present, showing 'the field for work.'

"Who are the workers?" "How to work?" "Spirit of work?" "Personal work?" "Power for work?" "Results of work?" and "Mission work." Appropriate, earnest remarks followed the reading of each quotation.

Mrs. Smith made a short talk on the "Call to Service and what it means," showing the various open doors for the Master's work, and that the only acceptable service is rendered by resignation to God's holy will, consecration to His service and determination to deny one's self and follow him as he bids us in Mat. 16:24.

Mrs. J. L. Moseley read a paper "God's call to work," bringing the subject home to the Jefferson auxiliary in such sweet, gentle tones, causing each one under the sound of her voice to feel that the divine call was intended for her.

In a most interesting manner Mrs. Louis Schluter read a pathetic leaflet showing the ignorance and superstition of the neglected mountaineers, who have neither educational nor religious advantages, and for whom the W. H. M. Society is deluging laboring to enlighten and christianize. This entire program was inspiring, causing all to sing as never before:

"Just a cup of water for the Master's sake;
May sweet words of music in some broken woe;
Strive to give them comfort with some loving deed,
Try to be a blessing in the time of need."

The meeting was brightened by the presence of a former member of the Society, Mrs. Berta McGarity, who is identified with the Sulphur Springs auxiliary of W. H. M. Society, "doing whatever her hands find to do," now on a visit to the old home.

After a short business session, we were dismissed with the H. M. motto: "Consider one another to provoke unto love and good works!"

Press Supt.

The Home Mission Society is busy filling orders for picnic and run-a-bout hats; any size and color, delivered in the city for 35 cents. The money thus obtained to help meet a payment on the beautiful new pews in the First Methodist church. Miss Opal Lockett of Greenville, visited friends here this week, the guest of Mrs. J. O Jackson Jr.

Death of Mrs. Chas. A. Rowell.

The sudden death of Mrs. Virgie Schluter Rowell Monday night at about 11 o'clock, cast a gloom over the city. Mrs. Rowell was in usual health and her parents, Hon. and Mrs. L. S. Schluter, visited at the house that evening, and after they left, she had retired. Mr. Rowell noticed she was breathing hard and discovered that she was in a dying condition. Her parents were phoned for and before they reached her bedside she had expired. Death was from heart trouble.

Deceased was born and reared in Jefferson, and spent all her life here except a few years, and her sweet and gentle disposition had endeared her to all, and her untimely death caused great sorrow. A devoted husband, son Louis, a sister Mrs. T. L. Torrens, mother and father, and many relatives are left to mourn her loss.

The funeral took place Tuesday afternoon at 5:00 o'clock from residence on Alley street, services were conducted by Rev. H. J. Hayes, and were largely attended, with interment in Oakwood cemetery. The business houses closed out of respect during hour of funeral.

Business Men, Please Take Notice.

A Civic League wagon will make the rounds of the business portion of town every Monday morning, collecting trash and garbage. The League asks the business men to see that all trash about their premises is placed in barrels or boxes so it can be easily and quickly handled. Do not attempt to burn paper, boxes or anything on streets, but have receptacles for the purpose and keep all trash in them during the week, and every Monday it will be hauled away. The League is undertaking this as an experiment. If we do not have the cooperation of the business men it will fail; but on the contrary, if all will help in the matter, we will soon have a cleaner Jefferson.

Mrs. B. F. Sherrell, Sec.

The recital by pupils of Miss Eva Eberstadt Thursday evening at Library auditorium was a brilliant success, and one of the prettiest affairs of the season. The pupils gave evidence of the careful training from their talented young teacher, and their performance was perfect in every feature. Miss Eberstadt and pupils were the recipients of many beautiful floral offerings and pretty gifts from admiring friends who thronged the auditorium.

A. M. Kelly, who conducted a fine jewelry and repair shop for several years, sold out to C. C. Thomas, and he and family left for Chicago Wednesday, where he will make that city his home. Mr. Kelly made many warm friends by his pleasant manners, and he and family will be missed from business and social circles.

The young men gave a complimentary dance to Miss Rose Pool one of Greenville's most attractive and popular young ladies, who is the charming guest of Misses Eberstadt. She will have many social affairs given in her honor while a charming visitor to our city.

The citizens of Jefferson will take pride in entertaining the veterans of Hood's Brigade Association of Texas, which will meet here June 25th and 26th. The old time hospitality that Jefferson is noted for will be showered on this gallant band.

Banker Lou Morris of Pittsburg, was in the city Wednesday, enroute from attending District conference, Pittsburg District, Texas conference M. E. Church South at Queen City. He remained between trains and went home that night.

Harderabble Heard From

To the Jimp.—County Treasurer J. H. Rowell, wife and little ones spent the day in our city May 30th, becoming the guests of J. P. (Joe) Davis, feasting on the fat of the land, ye scribe included. We have known Mr. Rowell, Jodie, all these years, say 40; ever since he was a tot and fished in a wash tub, up to now. Have ever found him modest and reserved, with grit enough to paddle his own boat successfully, regardless of fine blood or other disaster; and his little wife, the mother of three smiling little daughters, the price of their devoted parents and an honor to the great state of Tex., and like their ancestors, may the world be better and brighter by their having lived in it.

Jefferson, Texas.

We have seen a view of the high water at Lodi, caused by a big waterspout Wednesday afternoon, and taken by Charlie Fason. Lodi is nine miles north of Jefferson, where the rain fell in such torrents that the track around the depot was under water fully 2-1/2 feet, and track was submerged for near a mile.

It Keeps Them Off.

They are pretty bad this year no mistake—and they bite viciously. We refer to Mosquitoes, but a little Hunt's Lightning Oil applied to the irritated places takes the sting away. It keeps them off it used in time.
